

You Are Invited #8

“Come, Find Yourself in Me”

Mark 1:16-20

A Divine Invitation

Mark 1:17 - Jesus calls us to “Come, f_____ Me.” This was very different than the r_____ of Jesus’ day who did not invite disciples to follow them.

Jesus did not call them to join a p_____, enter an o_____, or support a m_____. He called them to follow Him.

Mark 1:17 - Jesus said, “I will make you f_____ of men.” This would not happen right away, but after they were t_____.

A Different Interpretation

The purpose of the “fish” to not for private c_____, or for public d_____, or as personal p_____.

Using a different fishing analogy, the New Testament seems to have a “c_____ and r_____” concept for new believers.

Matthew 10 - Jesus initially sent out the Twelve within a y_____ of calling them to be His disciples.

Acts 8:26-40 - Philip was immediately taken a_____ after the eunuch of Ethiopia became a follower of Jesus,

Acts 10:23-48 - Peter stayed a few d_____ after Cornelius was saved.

Acts 14:21-23 - Paul m_____ on shortly after his ministry in Derbe.

Once they come to Christ, trust the H_____ S_____ to lead them.

A Deeper Implication

Mark 1:17 - Jesus called them to be “fishers of men” because they were f_____. He doesn’t call everyone to be the same.
